Travel Insurance Waiver

My credit card is offering me free cover – why should I pay for travel insurance?

Carefully read the fine print when you see advertisements offering free travel insurance when you pay for the trip with your credit or charge card. This is not always comprehensive travel insurance that you are being offered. Insurance will usually be provided to the individual cardholder and will cover any immediate family if they were travelling together, if their travel itinerary is identical or, in some cases, if it is very similar. To qualify for the insurance, cardholders need to either purchase the return airfare on their credit card or spend a certain dollar amount while overseas.

It is not enough to assume that the cover is deluxe quality and comprehensive because it is attached to a premium card.

Following are some questions that you may care to ask your financial institution about the “free” policy you are considering.

Is there unlimited Medical, Cancellation, Additional Expenses for all destinations?

Is there cover for Travel Agent cancellation fees? If so, what are the limits?

Do you have adequate luggage cover for cameras, videos, personal computers?

What is the excess on the policy and how is it applied, per event or total?

(Some free policies require each person covered by the policy to pay a $200 excess per event)

Is there an excess on all claims? Can I remove an excess?

Will it cover the pre-existing medical conditions of you or your travelling partner?

(Most free policies severely restrict the coverage of pre-existing conditions including common conditions such as asthma)

Do they offer 24-hour worldwide emergency assistance that offers assistance from advice on claims to arranging repatriations? Check if they cover resumption of journey, missed connection, travel delay.

Can you extend your policy if you choose to stay away longer once travel has started?

Are your frequent flyer points covered?

We believe that travel insurance isn't an option when travelling overseas..... if you can't afford the insurance, you cannot afford to travel.

Please take time to read the terms and conditions of the cover you choose to ensure that you are adequately covered.

Should you decide to make your own travel insurance arrangements we ask that you to complete and sign our waiver form below.

TRAVEL INSURANCE WAIVER

We acknowledge that I/We have been advised by our travel agent that travel insurance is available to cover medical expenses, additional expenses, cancellation expenses, luggage & personal effects and personal liability subject to the terms and conditions of the policies available.

I/We decline to accept the insurance offered because:

Alternate insurance arrangements have been made

I/We choose not to insure

I/We have been offered insurance for an existing medical condition but have declined to accept it

Quick Tag-along Overview

Inclusions and Exclusions:

Food & Drink:

All daytime snacks and lunch are included in the price of our tag-along tours. Non-alcoholic drinks are also part of the food experience but you can buy your own beer or wine as the mood takes you.

With so many fantastic restaurants to be explored in each destination, dinner is not included in the price of the tours - unless stated in the itinerary. Dinner time is a great time to catch up with other tag-alongers and discover new sites, sounds and tastes. Our team will give recommendations and make bookings for you - and probably join you for dinner too.

Sadly, we can't cater to vegetarians or people with food allergies on these tours.

Accommodation:

INDIA: All hotels, and airport transfers are included in the package. You just need to add your own airfares.

THAILAND:

The nature of our THAI tag-along tours means we don't book any hotels for you, allowing you to take advantage of hotel club memberships etc. Our itineraries for each tour on our website (spirithouse.com.au) give great recommendations for hotels close to the departure point for our tours.

The Thai tag-along tour features a ONE night stay upcountry as part of the tour so you will need to book accommodation for the two nights of the tour which take place in Bangkok. Once again, the itinerary has details on that.

We have a list of recommended hotels on our website which are located in within short walking distances to our departure point and amazing shopping, restaurants etc. We've created a small map of the area we recommend you to stay. You can see the location of the hotels, shopping districts plus interesting places to visit and explore.

Flights:

Once again, we don't book any flights which gives you the freedom to use your frequent flyer miles or preferred airlines. Zoe and her team at Spectacular Events can help you with all your flights and accommodation needs if you so desire.

What happens next?

Simply make your way to Bangkok or Delhi and meet up with us at our departure points. It's that easy. We will be contacting you quite regularly by email in the weeks leading up to the tour, answering your questions and going over the itineraries, departure points etc.

Feel free to call us at Spirit House on 07 5446 8977, or email Acland - acland@spirithouse.com.au, if you have any questions or need more information.
